Finland

Finland Pavilion, built on a 3,000-square-meter plot, will be like a "Kirnu", a Finnish word that means a rocky hollow formed naturally along the seashore. Finland will attempt to capture the ideas of freedom, creativity, innovation, community, health and nature in its pavilion and exhibition. Finnish people believe the six elements compose "the beautiful life". The three-story building, which will include a restaurant serving Finnish food, will look like a huge white bowl and will be surrounded by a lake. The "bowl" will appear to be floating on the water.
